Moreyn Cole was hearing noises inside her head. She wasn't imagining things, she had a small tumor deep inside her brain. Faced with the reality and risks associated with traditional brain surgery, Moreyn wanted options. That's when she learned about the Gamma Knife Center of New Mexico. The Gamma Knife is not actually a knife, but one of the world's most refined medical instruments capable of delivering a highly focused and precise dose of radiation to a tumor in a single day treatment. One of only 200 Gamma Knife centers in the world, the team at the Gamma Knife Center of New Mexico, successfully irradiated the tumor without an incision and without damaging the delicate tissues surrounding the tumor. Moreyn reflects "The Gamma Knife was the right choice for me. I'm back at work and I feel great."
